

WBP PROPERTY Symposium

FOR INVESTORS & HOMEBUYERS

Why is property selection so important?

Like any asset class, not all properties perform the same. That's because a property's value is determined by a range of factors, which make every property unique.

Understanding the complex factors that influence property values and capital growth can help you to make better selection decisions when buying property for occupation or investment.

At WBP Property Symposium we'll help you do just that. Secure your place to learn about property selection, identifying common risks and property traps, market trends and insights, and a Melbourne property market update.
